

Rachel Waller

As a seasoned real estate professional with over six years of industry experience, I began my journey as an assistant for a commercial real estate agent and later transitioned into residential real estate. My expertise lies in managing transactions and ensuring compliance with real estate laws. I am passionate about educating my team and others in the field, striving to elevate the industry's standards. My dedication to excellence and in-depth knowledge makes me a valuable asset in the realm of residential real estate.

As a member of the St. Charles REALTORS® I want to be an integral part of building and maintaining relationships within our real estate community. I want to support a movement in which we are intensely responsive to each other and deeply interested in the success of our peers, both in their business, and in their professional relationships.

When I'm not involved in real estate or working toward a better climate for our industry, I enjoy the personal side of life. I have a son that is going into high school and he is my world! I enjoy watching him play sports, and I love watching him grow and go through this ride called life. I also have a mini farm with horses, steers, chickens, dogs, and cats that keeps me busy.
